

Sharon Gallagher

Perry Hall, MD

I am writing to provide comments to the FCC on the E-Rate NPRM, proceeding 13-184. The E-Rate program has been a phenomenal success in bringing internet access to almost every classroom in America. All students need access to high-speed broadband in order to participate in and contribute to this digital society. Digital citizenship in today's democracy requires reliable Internet access. Our students must have reliable access to become effective productive citizens.